editorial

Dear reader,

are we living in the "Last Days"? One can read about it ever so often. And even without studying the bible or reading the prophecy literature, indications cannot be overlooked.

Nature revolts. Earthquakes, tsunamis, cold spells, heat waves, droughts and melting ice caps. Monitoring wars and terrorist attacks becomes difficult due to sheer numbers. Commodities are exploding since last year. Wheat has doubled in price between May and December 2007. It went parabolic since. Not only wheat, other grains as well. Partly because we use crops for alternative energy. The staple food of millions of people becomes too expensive for them. They will starve, despite all the aid programs.

Did you see the report of Viet Nam? Children age 8 to 14 are crippled because of Monsanto's Agent Orange. 33 years after the end of that war!

And the latest subprime and derivative mess hitting all banks? Most is carefully hidden from the public. Could this be one of the stones in the puzzle? Many insiders speak of a banking/economy meltdown and a looming depression compared to which the one in the thirties will look like a "walk in the park".

What did Jesus tell Jakob Lorber re the Last Days? For one He indicated to His disciples when the 'Last Days' will begin: When the steam engine will be invented that "shall pull the heaviest of wagons at the speed of an arrow shot in the air", and "ships at sea will stand up to every whirlwind...". When there will be great technological progress and people will use the forces in lightning to perform hard work, times will become very difficult. One nation shall move against the other and there will be great scarcities and starvation while faith will die.

A short sequence of these predictions can be found below, while we will post a more detailed report on our website soon. Newsletter subscribers will be informed in due course.

In the meantime I guess the best is to get rid of debt, increase one's love for Jesus Emanuel Jehovah Zebaoth* and let His will be done.

God bless

The beginning of the end?

Hardly. The "End Time" started 150 years ago. See above.

What's Killing All the Honeybees?

<http://www.researchmagazine.uga.edu/aa/winter2008/bees.php>

In Georgia and throughout the country, honeybees are mysteriously disappearing from commercial beekeepers hives. Among the suspects, some of which may be acting jointly, a recently identified virus stands out. By Stephanie Schupska

Across the United States, honeybees en masse have been leaving their hives to forage, as usual, and then failing to return—a highly unusual, and worrisome, occurrence. Even if the missing bees were in a field somewhere, they would be nearly impossible to find, said Keith Delaplane, a University of Georgia entomologist and honeybee expert, because the "foraging range of one bee colony is square miles, not square feet or even acres. If a bee doesn't come home, you can't simply find her and do an autopsy."

Although it is typical for beekeepers to lose 10 to 15 percent of their colonies each year because of problems such as mite infestations or disease, UGA apicultural research coordinator Jennifer Berry points out that the current phenomenon is far greater in scale and involves seemingly healthy hives. "When you have beekeepers who have lost 90 percent of their colonies, and they're commercial and good beekeepers, we know something's wrong," she said.

Tiny Bees Mean Big Bucks

In February 2007, the U.S. Department of Agriculture officially named the vanishing-bee problem "colony-collapse disorder" (CCD). At that time, many of the beekeepers reporting heavy losses from CCD were commercial migratory keepers spending the winter in California, Florida, Oklahoma, or Texas. But later that month, large non-migratory beekeepers started reporting serious losses as well.

Talking about "The End" or "The Last Days"

As mentioned in the editorial we shall put at your disposal a report covering most of the prophecies pertaining to the "Last Days", also called "Cleansing of the world" or "Judgment Day" which Lorber and his two colleagues received.

Here are a few statements which touch on the subject.

Environment:

"Through the destruction of forests, whirlwinds and thunderstorms will be given easier access, and even the climatic conditions of individual countries will change completely as a consequence." (Secrets of Nature, p. 208).

"It is indeed possible for men to make great inventions in the course of time, and begin to influence nature on earth to such an effect that in the end the earth will have to become utterly leaky (i.e., damaged, unable to function). The consequences of this will of course be far from pleasant ..." (Great Gospel of John V, 109, 6)

Knowledge alone does not help to attain salvation,
but action does!

Great Gospel of John
06, 227

"...all calamities ...inclement weather, hurricanes and utterly destructive floods and several other things of the kind are nothing but the consequence of men's actions that have no order to them." (Great Gospel of John IV 144, 2)

Unemployment:

But in the end a time will come where men will achieve great cleverness and skill in all things and they will build all kinds of machines that are able to do the work like living, intelligent men and animals. But this way many people will lose their jobs and go hungry. The misery of people will increase to an incredible height. [Great Gospel of John V, 108,01]

Consequences of greed:

"The friends of dead riches, the friends of Mammon", the prophet Jakob Lorber was told "are difficult to win for a better light." (Great Gospel of John VIII 76, 10)

"Men will use their considerable knowledge of the world, and the faculties they have acquired, for ever worse aims, and they will quite of their own accord provoke all kinds of doom to come up from the depths of creation and befall them and the whole earth." (Great Gospel of John V 205, 4)

"God has already ordained, forever, that all that is false and evil shall at all times destroy itself." (Great Gospel of John V 46, 7)

"There is no other way now of helping mankind than through great suffering." (Great Gospel of John II 132, 13) with their Christian doctrines. At the same time He is telling us what's wrong with the bible, namely where during the centuries wrong translations have happened it was doctored for specific reasons. But at the same time Jesus clarifies scripture by lifting the veil He had placed in them on purpose from the start. Which purpose? To keep the core of His teaching intact, to avoid it being fiddled by people with a certain agenda.

Here is an excerpt (Part 2) of the excellent book of K. Eggenstein which provides a concise digest of the writings of Lorber and his two successors.

(Abbreviations: GGJ - Great Gospel of John; LS - The Lord's Sermons; GH - Gifts of Heaven)

...It is evident from New Revelation that Jesus repeatedly instructed his disciples to keep certain teachings secret. He told them "The out of the ordinary you need not proclaim to all men, but only to those who will follow you in office." (GGJ 8:77, 17)

"I say to you all that for the moment you are not to teach the people all I have told you" (GGJ. 9:117, 7).

"John and Matthew have asked Me if they were to write down all these things. I have said to them: You can do this for your own purposes, but you need not write it down for the people, for they are too young as yet by two thousand years to understand this." (GGJ 2: 218, 14)

"In the distant future I shall call up servants and dictate to them, through the spirit in their hearts, to write down everything that has occurred now, from the time when I took up the office of teacher and made you My first disciples, and also what is to come, and many other things, too." (GGJ 8.79, 3-4)

"When the right time has come, then much shall also be written." (GGJ 8: 79, 8)

"In those days to come, My teaching will not be presented to men veiled in mystery, but wholly unveiled in its heavenly and spiritual significance, and that shall be the New Jerusalem that is to come down from the heavens upon earth. Its light, men will then see how greatly those who went before them were deceived and misled by the false prophets, just as the Jews are by the Pharisees". (GGJ 9:90, 2)

When the disciples asked why the message could not then be given (quite) openly, Jesus replied: "There is much that I could still tell you and reveal to you, but you are all of you not yet able to bear it" (GGJ 9:90, 6).

It was also made clear to them that at that time lessons had to be given "as to children, as it were", and that they "could not yet have the least idea as to the extensive knowledge and (technological) art that men would attain in times to come." (GGJ 9:90, 8)

The partly occult nature of the Gospels, providing an opportunity for frequent misinterpretation, had the sanction of our Lord. Asked about this by St. John the Evangelist, who was His apostle, Jesus said the following: "It is better that the matter [the Gospel, Ed] is given to the world in a very occult, veiled form, for the world can then have a tussle merely with the outer wrapping, leaving the living heart within untouched. When the need arises, in time to come, I shall once again awake men to whom I shall and sisters!

disclose everything that took place here and what the world will have to expect, because of its incorrigible wickedness." (GGJ 1: 216, 13-14)

Before His Ascension, Jesus had promised mankind that a Comforter would come. In New Revelation, the Lord explains this Comforter as follows for modern man: "The Comforter I promised my disciples, saying that I would send him, this has already been given in the words written by John, the most loved of My disciples. The disciples did not understand these words; but you, who are now schooled and prepared to quite some extent to grasp and understand My teaching the way I should wish it to be understood and also put into effect, you can find, in these words passed down to you (e.g. New Revelation), the Comforter, who can enlighten and exalt you, making you strong to face all that is to come, just as My Spirit gave the disciples strength to bear their future destinies with the strength of soul their mission required." (LS 157)

A prediction Jesus made to Nicodemus was that in the period following His life on earth, up to the time when the Comforter would come in form of the "true, great doctrine of light and life, there will be little light among men on earth." (GGJ 7: 54, 5-6)

"They (men) will have to learn to think, then to seek and to find for themselves. The people of the world take satisfaction in the world, and any concept of God must therefore also be wholly worldly in appearance if it is to find favor with men. And so it will be a long time before we are able to present the truth immediately to the people on earth" (GGJ 6:204, 2-4)

Jesus predicted, among the apostles, that in the course of time His teachings would become obscured due to alterations made in the Gospels and due to misinterpretation. "That in times to come My teachings will not continue among all nations in the pure form in which you have received it from My lips, that is something that may be taken for granted even today." (GGJ 5.120, 6) "But the innermost spirit will still be there." (GGJ 5:120, 6)

them everything,
too.

Household of God 2,

"The leaders of the communities in particular", it says elsewhere, when Jesus is addressing our present generation in New Revelation, "began to twist the meaning of My teachings, for being the purest truth coming from the heavens, it failed to bring them adequate profit, and they confounded it with the nonsensical notions of old." (GGJ 10:25, 4)

"They have dug a pit for My original light from the heavens, to hide it from the eyes of all men, and to keep them in darkness, for their worldly benefit." "It is easily seen that such a thing [the expurgation and clarification of the Gospels, author] cannot happen in a moment, just as night cannot yield to full daylight all of a sudden, for everything must take its time in this world." [GGJ 10:25, 8 and 10)

Because of this, "at a very late moment, immediately before a great judgment, seers will be called up and admitted who will have to make the short, great effort of cleansing a doctrine that has become very impure." (GGJ 6:176, 10)

"The workers in My vineyard will not perform great miracles, but work wholly with the pure Word and through Scripture, the revelation they receive being nothing very striking, but merely the living Word within them, in their feelings and in the thoughts in their hearts." (GGJ 6:176, 10)

"When a thousand and again not quite a thousand years will have passed from this moment (the time when Jesus was teaching, author) and My teachings will be totally buried in the foulest of matter, then I shall once again call up men who will write down accurately, word for word, what has been negotiated and has occurred here [with the disciples, author], and pass it on to the world in a great book [New Revelation consists of 25 volumes], so that their eyes shall be opened again in many respects!" (GGJ 4:112, 4)

"Besides, That this My teaching of the real world - that will never die - will meet much opposition. I know an eternity in advance." (GGJ 2:172, 8)

Those whom I will send many a trial will recognize from this that I love them very much.

Great Gospel of John
08, 103

The Lord then refers to the gospel of the Sower, saying: "For those who will be thirsty and longing for the water of life, for them they [the disclosures, author] have been made." "In order then to open up the gospels, that are closed with more than seven seals, and prepare a way for them through these books to Me and My heavens, I am sending you these revelations." (LS 229)

"These teachings I give only for My true children on their earth . . ." (GH 1 p. 390). "As to the true children of the world, however, let them be and do not call them?" (GGJ 6:151, 3 and 11)

"For the senses of men are so perverted that the greatest of miracles, the living Word given to them through the agency of an awakened seer and servant of the Word, is as unimportant to them as any other thing in the world!" (GH 2 p. 106)

"Most life pilgrims prefer to stay in the valleys of their animal nature rather than take the trouble to climb a mountain, there to get at least the prospect of becoming a true human being." (GH 2 p. 361)

3. reflections

The Lord's prayer as dictated to Jakob Lorber

[Great Gospel of John 10:32]

[5] Jesus said: "When you ask for something, do not use many words or any ceremony at all, but pray quietly in the secret little love-chamber of your heart:

[6] Our dear Father, Who are in Heaven, hallowed be Your name at all times and eternally!

Your Kingdom of Life, Light and Truth come to us and remain with us! Your alone holy and most just will be done on this earth amongst us people as it does in Your Heavens amongst Your perfect angels! But on this earth give us the daily bread!

Forgive us our sins and weaknesses, as we forgive them at all times to those who have sinned against us!

Do not allow us to be tempted beyond our strength and deliver us from all evil into which a man can fall owing to too much temptation through this world and its wicked spirit; for Yours, o Father in Heaven, is the Kingdom, all the power, all the might and glory, and all the Heavens are full of the same from eternity to eternity!

[7] Behold, My friend, this is how everyone shall pray in his heart, and his prayer will be answered, provided he means it in earnest, – yet not just with the mouth, but true and alive in the heart. For God in Himself is a purest Spirit and must, therefore, be worshipped in spirit and its fullest and most earnest truth."

Jesus' nature; Reading versus Doing

From: Scripture explanations 8.
(Emphasis added)

3rd January 1844 in the evening.

[01] [The Lord:] Pick out another text, just as you did before, and we shall see whether it can serve as a light for our matter.

[02] "Now Jesus himself was about thirty years old when He began his ministry. He was the son, so it was thought, of Joseph." (Luke 3:23)

[03] This text has been chosen and a tremendous light shines from it! For sure, even you should be able to see straightaway the relevance of this text and how it fits our purposes. But we want to see if you yourselves will see the light after a brief introduction.

[04] Jesus, when He began is ministry, was about thirty years of age, being the son (as was supposed) of Josef.

[05] Who is "He"? This "He" is the Lord Himself who has always been and will always be throughout eternity the very same Lord.

[06] How come He was thirty years old, He who was eternal? The Eternal created Himself here for the first and the last time as a human and as a human even He applied the time on Himself that He had created since eternities.

[07] He was about thirty years old. What is this saying? As God could He count thirty years? Certainly not as He was eternal. So He could only do this as a human.

[08] He began his ministry. How? As God or as a human? It is sufficiently shown with the statement, "He was the son of Joseph, so it was thought", that "He" who was barely thirty years old began his ministry not as God, but rather as a human. For the God in Him relates towards the barely thirty year old son of a carpenter like a human relates on the side of his inner spirit. This has to be first awakened by actions underlined by love, before He then appears as an arbitrary, self-acting being.

[09] Thus this barely thirty year old son of Joseph the carpenter started his ministry as entirely human and not as God. His divinity came to the forefront really when He freed it within Him through His actions as a human. Without actions the divinity did not appear.

[10] Question: How could this man of barely thirty years start a ministry for which a high level of learnedness is essential, needing long studies and an immense amount of reading? Where then did this wisdom come from?

[11] "For we know Him. He is the son of the carpenter and has carried out His father's profession often enough before our very eyes. We know that He never went to school. Similarly we find it difficult to recall Him ever taking a book in His hand and read. He was an ordinary craftsman almost up to today and look, now He is a teacher and His doctrine is full of deep wisdom while He still has the looks of a carpenter. How long that He did a donkey barn here with His brothers? Just look at His workman's hands and lo and behold He is a teacher and even a prophet without ever having seen the inside of the Prophet School of the Essenes. What should we make of this?"

[12] You see, this is literally a genuine testimonial about the carpenter's son at Capernaum! What can be clearly seen from this evidence is that not much divinity must have been apparent in this barely thirty year old son of a carpenter. Otherwise He ought to have been awarded a different testimonial.

[13] From where then did this genuine man get this ability to teach, though He had neither studied before nor read a lot? The man owed this teaching ability simply to His actions.

[14] His actions came about simply from His perpetual love of the divine and of the neighbor. He sacrificed every action for God and carried them out in a way that He never looked at how He could benefit, but rather His neighbor. This man also spent three hours a day of perfect quiescence in God.

[15] Thereby He continually awakened the divinity slumbering in all its fullness within Him and made it tributary for Him according to the degree and measure of His actions. And seeing as He had barely reached thirty years, as already mentioned, the divinity in Him had been awakened to such an extent that He was endowed with the spirit of wisdom so that He could begin the ministry He was called upon to do.

He who will walk and act with Me in everything, will find that his activity is always accompanied by true blessing.

Great Gospel of John
08, 154

[16] After this introduction I now ask you, whether you still can't see the bright light shining out of this text? Yes, you can see it already and you can see where it is headed. Thus we shall then just sum up, so that we don't draw out the matter unnecessarily.

[17] What should this trailer label be called? Look, short and sweet: "Go and do the same!"

[18] Don't think that one can only awaken the divine spirit within through hard study and much reading. For in this way you will rather kill it and carry it as a corpse to the grave. Rather be active in line with the basic rule of life. This way your spirit will become alive and will find everything in itself that you would never have found by reading a thousand books!

[19] But when the spirit is alive, you may also read. Then, in reading or listening to My Word you will gather fruits that have a living core or reason. By doing this before your spirit has been awakened, you will reap only the empty shells of the fruit in which no living core can be found. The living core however is the inner, living, spiritual comprehension.

[20] But where should it come from, if the spirit has not been freed and enlivened first? The body is an outer shell that deteriorates and putrefies. The soul is the food and body of the spirit. But if you simply read in order to enrich your outer natural knowledge, what then should reach the spirit, which is not appropriately functional in life, and thus not accommodate every word that has been read with its lively spiritual awareness filling the external word with its living core and only thereby give life and effect?

[21] Consequently the old tenet remains valid: Don't be vain listeners, but rather doers of the Word. Only this way will you become aware of its living divinity inside you!

[22] I think that will also be clear. But as man, as so often said before, never has enough of the light we shall once again pace towards another central sun chosen by you.

4. excerpt

On the cross: "It is finished"

From: Scripture Explanations 5

[11] All I am asking from you is love and action to follow. If you only read about the true, living act of love instead of doing it, except what your earthly senses compel either way, question: Is that not vinegar with bile that you are giving Me instead of living water? Yes, I tell you: the more you read but then don't do anything other than what pleases your earthly senses, the more acrid the vinegar will become and the more bitter the bile.

[12] Sure enough it then says: "It is finished!" But what? - My own fight for you. For I, your creator, God and Lord and eternal life itself, can do no more than take death upon Me!

[13] There is no need to explain why I cannot be killed in My own eternal spirit. I can only take the fight for your life to an endless highest level. But because you yourselves are finite, this fight must have somewhere a highest goal. This goal achieved the fight is over as far as I am concerned. But not for you who give Me, the winning fighter for your life, out of gratitude only vinegar with bile instead of the living waters of love.

[14] It is surely finished. Not for you though, but unfortunately only for Me.

I've done everything for you that is possible for God. Thus I have finished My work for you. But are you acting in a way that this job is finished in you?

7. overview: the new revelation

Since the beginning of time God had been in contact with mankind. With every nation. In every century. Without interruption.

The form of communication differs. God came in the form of angels, He used prophets whom He instructed (e.g. Isaiah). He gave people visions (e.g. Swedenborg) or revealed His messages in dreams (e.g. Joseph) and He had people write by direct dictation (e.g. Moses).

Communications, instructions and messages did not stop with Jesus. Some churches, unfortunately, claim that Jesus said it all. With Him revelation stopped. Despite the contrary written in scripture.

The New Revelation, God's New Word, was received by dictation. Word by word. Every word of those 25 volumes was dictated to Lorber, Engel and Mayerhofer by the Lord. It took 37 years to finish. Some say it's the Eternal Gospel promised by the angel. It sure contains wisdom for generations of researchers.

The two new commandments Jesus introduced complementing the 10 of the Old Testament are "Love your God with all you power and all your heart" and "Love your neighbor like yourself". And added, that your enemy also is your neighbor (e.g. Luke 10:27).

Out of the seven Spirits of God three stand out: Love, Wisdom and Power.

1. In His New Word, the New Revelation, God reconfirms again and again that love is the basis of God. "The Father" really is God's love.
2. God created all beings - all angels, all souls, all spirits - out of love. It was out of His endless love that despite the high treason of Lucifer and one fifth of all created beings He did not destroy them but created the material universe. Matter is a prison and school through which He leads the rebellious souls back into His kingdom.
3. Out of love He created man and put him to test on earth and gave him the choice between good and evil.
4. Out of love He took flesh in Jesus, His "Son", suffered terribly, accepted utmost humiliation and sacrificed His physical body to free all humans from the slavery of sin.
5. Out of His love He gave mankind the privilege to become His children if they choose to obey. A privilege not even His first angels have.
6. Out of love He has been incredibly patient with mankind. But He also said that out of this love He will chastise mankind if they turn away from Him, lest they'll be lost. That happened and will happen again.
